Wild Turkey for New England.
Alabama passed a game law one year ago prohibiting altogether the shooting of female wild turkeys. Previously these birds were hunted the year around. The result of the enforcement of this law has been a great increase in the number of wild turkeys, so that game wardens declare that there is no reason why every sportsman in the state should not serve for his family a wild turkey gobbler for Christmas dinner. What can be done in Alabama can be done in many other states. To be sure, some states would have to import their first birds and establish them on a new range, but it can be done, and would add a new delight to the sportsman of the state as well as add to the natural wealth of the state's resources. How would it do to try a turkey experiment in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Vermont?—Manchester (N. H.) Mirror and Farmer.

WANTS POSTOFFICE.
South Killingly Grange Omoooses
Change to R. F. D.

Another notice for applicants who desire to be postmaster at South Killingly has been issued and January 8 fixed as the date on which the civil service examination for the place will be held. The date for the first examination was fixed for December 4, but no one appeared at the Danielson postoffice, where it was to have been held, to take it.

There is a strong feeling among many of the people of East Killingly against having the office abolished and replaced by a rural free delivery service. Members of the grange are especially active in their efforts to have the office remain. The government is also interested in maintaining the office, as it is what is known as a money office, because it is privileged to Mayor-elect Kept from Polls by Illness.

Mayor-elect Archibald Macdonald was ill at his home with a severe cold while his party was electing him to be head of the city government Monday. Mr. Macdonald was able to be out Saturday, but was obliged to give up and remain in the house over election day.
A REPUBLICAN VICTORY.
Balance of Power Secured by That Party After Four Years—The Full Vote.
The republicans of Putnam came back into their own Monday at the biennial city election, with a sweeping victory in which they elected their candidate for mayor for the first time in four years and wrested the control of the common council from the democrats, who have had a majority of one in the nine members of that body during the last two years.
In the mayoralty contest, Archibald Macdonald was the victor over Dr. Omer Larue, democrat, with a majority of 116, which was surprisingly large, for while his victory was looked for, it was expected by a smaller margin.
The re-established unity in the republican ranks also carried Representative John A. Dady, candidate for alderman at large, into office, his majority over Lebbeus E. Smith being 122 and another big surprise, as Mr. Smith has long been a favorite in office with a majority of the voters of the city, and the present holder of the office for which he was a candidate.
The victory of Monday gives the republicans the offices of city treasurer and collector, as usual.
It will be a full four years since the republicans of Putnam have enjoyed the degree of control that they will be enabled to exercise in city affairs when the new administration begins its existence in January and there was no concealment of the pleasure that this conviction has brought about when the votes were counted Monday.
An election that promised to be very tame up to within a few days turned out very lively and the vote polled exceeded that of two years ago, when Archibald Macdonald, the republican candidate for mayor, was defeated by Charles Bradway, democrat, by the narrow margin of two votes.

Automobiles and horse-drawn vehicles rushed the voters to the polls from the time that they were opened up till the minute of closing time. The party leaders were early in realizing that it was to be a lively struggle for supremacy. The big republican victory, however, was very much of a surprise, for the winners were all guessing that the majorities would be very small. Just 903 persons came out to vote; but four of these were challenged because of their being residents outside the city limits. Of the 899 votes cast, 456 were straight republican, 299 straight democrat and 144 were split.

The pasters used were placed principally over the names of candidates for mayor or alderman-at-large, although a few of the little pink labels were scattered over other names on the ticket.

The democrats, to say the least, were chagrined over the outcome. The party's representatives have filed the mayor's chair for the last four years and during the last two years the alderman-at-large, George P. Miner, has been of that party.

Aside from Mayor Macdonald, Alderman Dady will be the only new member of the council, and both have seen previous service in that body. Though defeated for mayor, Dr. Omer Larue holds his place in the council as alderman from his ward; and Alderman J. Richard Carpenter, Adelmeade Brodeur, republicans, George P. Miner, Frederick Dumas, democrats, were all re-elected. While the personnel of the council will have changed little outwardly, the balance of power has been completely reversed and the Bill fast smiles that were worn by the victors Monday night may be expected to wear well for the next two years. The democrats lost a good fight and are taking their medicine in good spirit and making no excuses. The full vote was as follows:

Republican—Mayor, Archibald Macdonald 493; city treasurer, Charles H. Brown 539; collector, Joseph McGarry 532; auditor, Gilman H. Brown 559; registrar, Simon Farley 537; alderman at large, John A. Dady 564; alderman, J. Richard Carpenter 555, Adelmeade Brodeur 545.

Democratic—Mayor, Omer Larue 382; city treasurer, Warren L. Bradway 235; collector, Uris D. Beaumont 260; auditor, Arthur D. McIntyre 319; registrar, Thomas P. Ryan 234; alderman at large, Lebbeus E. Smith 382; aldermen, George P. Miner 337, Frederick Dumas 328.

City Notes.
Manager Frank Cordier has cancelled the basketball game he had scheduled with the "Cybers" of Williamatic for Thursday evening. Williamatic wanted to play the game under the amateur rules, Putnam preferring the professional rules.

The political turnover of Monday may mean a shake-up in some of the appointive city offices and the coming of January and the assumption of power by the new administration will be awaited with interest.

JEWETT CITY
Builders of Original Hopkville Bridge in 1843 Paid $150—Surprise Party—Funeral of Archie McNicol, Jr.
Many who visit Hopkville to watch the construction of the new dam and electric power house have been interested in the raising of the upper bridge which was made necessary by the rise of water caused by the flowage.

The original bridge was built in 1843 by three of Jewett's best townsmen, Captain Cook, Jason Lettman and Nathaniel Brown. It is said to be a matter of record that they received $150 for building the two abutments, a pier and putting the bridge in place.

Three years ago Fogarty Brothers made repairs to the stone work. Now the bridge has been raised five feet.

Sherman Waters takes his place among the winter sportsmen. He picked a fine one Sunday, Dec. 5.

Presented Handsome Fox.
J. Henry Bicknell was much surprised on Saturday evening by a visit from a number of friends who spent the evening playing games and having a general good time. A handsome watch fob was presented to the young man, a gift with which he was much delighted. Refreshments were served, the party including Duffie St. John, Leona and Leonora Buecher, Albert Lachapelle, Alice Richard, Mrs. Lamoth, Anna Stone, Alfred St. John, Henry Stone and Clemence Lamoth.

FUNERAL.
Archie McNicol, Jr.
The funeral services of Archie McNicol, Jr., were held at his home on Monday morning, the service being private, and conducted by Rev. W. H. Kane, pastor of the Congregational church. Burial was in Central Falls, the bearers being Norman Tracy, Samuel Watt, Fred L. Henshaw, Eli Lagus, Jr., Frank Geer and John Blake. The arrangements were in charge of John A. Hourigan.

Borough Notes.
Local ponds were covered with good inch ice Monday morning.
On account of the wreck of the Owl train sleepers at Clinton Monday morning, some of the westbound express were delayed from New London to Plainfield, passing through Jewett City before daylight.

Mrs. Alfred Barrett, Mrs. Whitman and Oscar Barrett of Greenfield were guests at L. F. Lewis and R. M. Barrett's on Sunday.
